

DERRICK NJUGUNA MUNGAI

I am a skilled Information Scientist and Software Developer with experience in customer service and sales. I have a strong background in managing customer inquiries, providing effective solutions, and contributing to positive business outcomes. With expertise in Python, JavaScript, and customer-facing roles, I am adept at solving problems and ensuring a seamless service experience. My previous experience includes roles in retail and customer service, where I developed strong communication and problem-solving skills. As a freelance web and software designer, I am always learning and adapting to new technologies to improve customer interactions.
